Message from the Director...

As Director, I realize that federal, state, institutional aid, or even out-of-pocket funds may not always be sufficient to cover most students' total college related expenses at Hampton University.

This publication is designed to assist students with identifying potential scholarships/grants, and paid internship opportunities, germane to the colleges that comprise the University.

I believe that when it comes to paying for a college education, reducing the financial burden of the student allows them to more easily to matriculate and graduate from the University.

It is oftentimes said that time is money! As such, you want to utilize your time more wisely, as it relates to searching for potential funding opportunities available from private sources. I strongly encourage you to dedicate at least one hour a week thorough out your tenure at the University.

While it is true that searching for scholarships from private sources can be sometimes be a daunting task, I would hope that you would view your time spent as simply an investment into your education.

Good luck in your search efforts.

With all good wishes,

Martin Miles

What you need to know about scholarship scams

Scholarship search services and financial aid advice services are common these days. Unfortunately, too many of these for-profit companies charge high rates to provide information that can be found elsewhere for free.

Charging a lot for a service isn't illegal – what makes some of these companies fraudulent is that they collect money to find scholarships for students but never provide the information, or they misrepresent themselves as a government agency in order to appear legitimate and attract customers, or they guarantee they'll get the student full funding for college (and then don't). Still, although it's obviously legal to charge for services genuinely rendered, you should keep reading if you want to save yourself some money...

If you're searching the Internet for scholarships and visit a site that asks for your credit card or another form of payment before it'll help you find funding, you might want to keep searching. Similarly, if you or your parents are contacted by an unfamiliar organization that invites you to an "interview" or "seminar" about preparing and paying for college, do your homework. Ask your high school counselor or a college financial aid administrator whether they've heard of the organization and know it's legitimate. In many cases, such invitations are a way to get you and your parents to come listen to a sales pitch: the company wants you to pay for advice on scholarships and other funding.

Don't believe anyone who tells you the information they offer can't be found anywhere else. You can get free advice from a variety of sources. The best places to start are your high school counselor or a college financial aid administrator.

Financial Aid Disclosure

Federal Student Aid Guidelines require schools to include various types of aid, as part of the student's estimated financial assistance in their financial aid package. All students are required to report all instances of expected aid to the Financial Aid Office. (please refer to the Scholarship FAQ webpage on our website for a list of financial aid types which must be reported to our office) at:
