PRESTIGIOUS SCHOLARSHIPS

Created at points in the early to mid-twentieth century, the Rhodes, Marshall, Fulbright, and Truman Scholarships all bear the names of prominent international political leaders whose visions and aspirations are in many ways reflected in the purpose of these respective prizes and the criteria upon which they are awarded. Added to this list are the Udall, Goldwater, Mitchell, Gilman, and Beneke Scholarships. Since the awards are independent of one another, a student may, in their college career, be eligible to apply to all or at least more than one of these award programs.

A Hampton University objective is to increase the number of student applications for prestigious national and international scholarships. To achieve that objective, we have begun to cultivate a culture that fosters an attitude and ambition to compete for prestigious scholarships. It is our hope that in the very near future there will be a billboard on Highway 64 that announces "HAMPTON UNIVERSITY STUDENT RECEIVES THE RHODES SCHOLARSHIP."

Listed below are the names of university endorsed students and the respective scholarship to which they applied.

HONORS PROGRAMS

THE UNCF/MELLON UNDERGRADUATE FELLOWSHIP

The UNCF/Mellon program provides the best and brightest students with a wonderful opportunity to become a part of a community of scholars. The Program seeks to address the underrepresentation of faculty of color teaching at our nation's institutions of higher education; create greater opportunities for undergraduate students of color to gain curricular and extra-curricular experiences that will better prepare them for the graduate school experience; and stimulate, encourage, and support more intense disciplinary scholarly engagement among all UNCF fellows.

Guidelines/Eligibility:
- Students must be sophomores (rising juniors) majoring in a Mellon Designated field.
- Students must identify a faculty mentor within their department to guide them during the two-year phase of the undergraduate program.
- Students must commit to participating in the Summer Institute.

MAXIMIZING ACCESS TO RESEARCH CAREERS (MARC) PROGRAM

Maximizing Access to Research Careers (MARC) program at Hampton University is a premier scholarship program funded by the National Institute of General Medical Sciences (NIGMS) at the NIH. The goal of the MARC program is to increase the number of well-prepared underrepresented (UR) students who matriculate into high caliber Ph.D. or combined M.D.-Ph.D. programs in the biomedical sciences and eventually go on to research careers. This program addresses the need to reduce the disparity in the number of individuals from underrepresented backgrounds in biomedical research careers. The long-term goal of this program at Hampton University is to prepare HU graduates to be leaders in biomedical research by improving their preparedness for Ph.D. programs.

The pre-MARC program is specifically designed for freshmen and sophomore students who are interested in learning about research careers and in becoming academically prepared for them. This program will increase and enhance the pool of MARC trainees at HU by developing the students' critical thinking, problem solving, quantitative reasoning, and research and communication skills. Participation in the Pre-MARC program is mandatory for students who are interested in applying for the MARC program.

The MARC program, on the other hand, is a competitive scholarship program for junior and senior students. It offers the MARC trainees an interdisciplinary curriculum which will ensure their competitiveness in PhD programs at research intensive institutes. The period of appointment to the MARC program is a consecutive 24-month period starting June 1st of the junior year. During this two year period, MARC scholars receive partial tuition and fees support as well as a generous monthly stipend. The MARC’s scholarship also cover in part the students' participation in academic year and summer research experiences in funded laboratories and their attendance at scientific conferences.

Students majoring in biology, biochemistry, mathematics and chemical engineering are eligible to apply for the Pre-MARC and MARC programs at Hampton University.

HONOR SOCIETIES

Honor societies at Hampton University are recognized for fostering and maintaining high academic standards, citizenship and collective scholarship within the student body. Undergirding every successful organization is an active, committed and dedicated advisor who mentors, and shepherds the members of the society.

ALPHA KAPPA DELTA

Alpha Kappa Delta seeks to acknowledge and promote excellence in scholarship in the study of sociology, the research of social problems, and such other social and intellectual activities as will lead to improvement in the human condition. The purpose of the honor society is to promote scholarship, but the focus has always been fellowship for students, both at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Conferring a charter signifies that the institution meets high standards of program quality and scholarship. Individual students must also meet high standards. Today, to become a member of AKD, a student has to be at least a junior and rank in the top 35% of his or her class, or have an overall GPA of 3.3. A student must also have 3.0 GPA in sociology, with at least 12 hours of sociology course-work, or 4 classes. Graduate students need to complete at least one-half year of course work in sociology while maintaining at least a ‘B’ average, and continue to be matriculated in a program of study leading towards a graduate degree in sociology at the host institution.

Promoting “high scholarship” and “sincere and zealous endeavors in all fields of knowledge and service.” Alpha Kappa Mu cultivates “a high order of personal living” while nurturing a student’s “appreciation for scholarly work and scholarly endeavor.” The organization “seek(s) and welcome(s) the superior college student with a serious purpose in general fields” of study.

ALPHA PHI SIGMA

Alpha Phi Sigma was founded in 1942 at Washington State University. In 1976, it was designated as the National Criminal Justice Honor Society. This organization currently has over 360 chapters who share a commitment to learning and improving the criminal justice field. While the objective of Alpha Phi Sigma is to provide opportunities for the exploration of issues within the criminal justice system, the goal of the Gamma Tau Chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma at Hampton University is to raise awareness about minority issues in crime and criminal justice. Activities have included gift sales for fundraising activities and community service projects for disaster and trauma victims, participation in community health fairs to educate others about violence against women, child abuse and victimization, participation in a youth violence and safety conference in the city of Hampton, and presentations on criminal justice/criminology issues pertaining to women and youth of color at community organizations as part of in-service training. The Society recognizes academic excellence by undergraduate and graduate students in the criminal justice/criminology or related field. Eligibility requirements for Alpha Phi Sigma include junior or senior student classification with a minimum of four completed criminology/criminal justice courses and a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.2. Graduate students must be enrolled in a graduate criminology/criminal justice program or related field with a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.4. Others may be elected to professional membership by the chapter if they have earned one or more degrees in the criminology/criminal justice or related field with a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.4.

BETA KAPPA CHI

Hampton University’s Kappa Chapter of Beta Kappa Chi Scientific Honor Society is an organization that has developed a record of attracting members that are of high achievement, national acclaim in research and have shown exemplary performance in their respective disciplines. Started on the campus of Lincoln University, Pennsylvania, Beta Kappa Chi was founded by young men who believed its motto: “Science Holds the Golden Key to the Royal Palace of Knowledge.” In 1921 or 1922, the seed for the establishment of Beta Kappa Chi took root in the minds of two or three undergraduate students. Nurtured in a soil well-watered by devoted, inspirational teachers such as Dr.
Harold F. Grim, biology; Dr. Arthur E. James, chemistry; and Dr. Walter L. Wright in mathematics, this seed flowered in 1923 on the campus of Lincoln University, Pennsylvania.

Hampton University’s Kappa Chapter under the sponsorship of Dr. T.W. Turner began its embryonic development in 1943. Taking their names from the Greek alphabet in the order of their founding, chapters were rapidly developed during the period 1943-1945. Having used all the letters of the Greek alphabet, new chapters were designated Alpha, Alpha Beta, Alpha Gamma, etc. from 1946-1950. Then, at the national meeting in 1950 held at Central State College, the use of Greek designation for chapters was abolished and the chapters were to be designated by the name of the institution in which they were located.

Beta Kappa Chi National Scientific Honor Society was founded in 1923 by the science faculty and science students of Lincoln University, Pennsylvania. Beta Kappa Chi National Honor Society is a collegiate honor society dedicated to the promotion of high scholarship in pure and applied sciences.

A member of the Association of College Honor Societies since 1961, Beta Kappa Chi now comprises 67 chapters at colleges and universities across the United States, with over 66,000 members.

The society publishes the Beta Kappa Chi Bulletin and a Booklet of Information; sponsors, stimulates, and encourages a variety of program activities through local chapters; conducts an annual national convention to transact society business and for the presentation of reports on research conducted by undergraduate and graduate members.

GOLDEN KEY INTERNATIONAL HONOUR SOCIETY

Founded in 1977 at Georgia State University, the Golden Key National Honor Society was established to recognize the top 15% of juniors and seniors in all undergraduate fields on the basis of their academic achievements. Golden Key rewards members with opportunities for recognition, scholarship, networking, employment, and service. Membership in Golden Key is a statement of a student’s commitment to the pursuit of academic excellence, ambition for personal and professional progress, and dedication to others through community service.

The chapter at Hampton University was established in 1995 and for the past twenty years this chapter has been actively involved in numerous projects to educate and serve the larger community. This year, members volunteered their services to the homeless, women victims, and youth placed at risk by community and school violence, and participated in the Youth Outreach Program in partnership with local school systems. Golden Key also participated in the Hampton Roads Community Service Event, and representatives attended both the regional and national summit. Today the organization is known as the Golden Key International Honour Society, which reflects the society’s diversity and international presence. Current eligibility requirements for Golden Key include sophomore, junior or senior student classification and a cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.3 and above.

SIGMA TAU DELTA

Sigma Tau Delta, the International English Honor Society, was established in 1924 to confer distinction for high achievement in English language, literature, and writing in undergraduate, graduate and professional studies. The expectations placed on our members are high, but we are proud to report that our English Honor Society students do more than meet these expectations- they exceed them. In addition to maintaining the Honor society’s academic standards, the members of Sigma Tau Delta strive to be visible role models in the Hampton Roads community; throughout the past few years they have tutored high school students, read to preschoolers, organized a book drive to benefit children in domestic violence and homeless shelters, and hosted celebrations honoring authors ranging from William Shakespeare to Dr. Seuss. We’re also pleased to announce that the Alpha Beta Zeta Chapter of the Sigma Tau Delta International Honor Society is celebrating its 25th Anniversary in 2017; we look forward to continuing these efforts throughout the next 25 years.

UPSILON PI EPSILON

The computing and information disciplines are relatively young. Yet despite their comparative youth, the computing and information disciplines have had an unparalleled effect on almost every aspect of contemporary life. Indeed it is difficult to predict the ultimate place of the computer in our world. It is the express purpose of Upsilon Pi Epsilon to promote the computing and information disciplines and to encourage their contribution to the enhancement of knowledge. Upsilon Pi Epsilon (UPE) was first organized at Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas, in 1967. The international organization now consists of chapters in various colleges and universities in North America and overseas.

Upsilon Pi Epsilon is an honorary society whose membership consists of outstanding undergraduate and graduate students in Computing and Information Disciplines. Only schools that offer a degree in a computing science-related discipline may be chartered. Likewise, prospective student members must be working toward a degree in Computing and Information Disciplines at the time they are considered for membership. Yet members are chosen not only for their scholastic achievement in a computing science program, but also for distinguishing themselves as true professionals by meeting the standards of the society. Membership is limited to those who can effectively achieve the original goals of the society. These goals include: The recognition of outstanding talent in the field of computing science, promotion of high scholarship in computing science, establishment and maintenance of high standards in computing science, representation of computing science in interdisciplinary communications, and encouragement of individual contributions to society through computing science.

THE EDWARD L. HAMM, SR. DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARD

Hamm, Sr. Distinguished Teaching Award recognizes annually one or two members of the Hampton University faculty who have been nominated by their peers and students for this prestigious honor. Although the university has many meritorious faculty members, there are those who consistently attain the lofty height of teaching excellence, by extending their instruction beyond the classroom into the actualities of their student’s world and by inspiring in their students a zest for learning and a commitment to excellence. Indeed, the recipients of this award exemplify this achievement.

THE NATIONAL W. E. B. DU BOIS HONOR SOCIETY

W. E. B. Du Bois Honor Society is a national, non-profit, academic honors organization for pre-college students incorporated and founded on the campus of Hampton University. The Du Bois Honor Society recognizes, encourages, and promotes scholastic achievement, leadership development, and active involvement in positive community activities that solidly promote life-long learning skills. This organization reinforces the concept of honors and affirms that excelling academically is appropriate, desirable and rewarding.

The mission of the Du Bois Honor Society is to nurture the intellect and motivate students who have potential but who are not attracted to nor encouraged to participate in traditional honors programs. This organization is designed to reward performance, not talent - for many are talented, but not all are successful or productive. The Society’s focus is two-fold. First, student participants embrace triple Cs – character, competency, and caring. Secondly, faculty who advise and work with students do so by providing triple Es – expectations, exposure, and experiences.

The mission and program of the Du Bois Honor Society is implemented through local chapters that operate under the national standard outlined in the organization’s constitution but do so in a manner that is effective and appropriate to meet the needs of each local community and constituency. Variety, cultural activities, sensitivity, ingenuity and resourcefulness are strongly encouraged.

Currently, the Director of Hampton University’s Honors College serves as executive director. The national office of the Society is a part of the Honors College at Hampton University. The national office handles chartering of National Du Bois Honor Society Senior and Junior chapters as well as inquiries regarding the Constitution of the Society. Additionally, the national office plans and implements an Invitational Honors Conference, coordinates the selection of recipients for awards and scholarships, and facilitates the means of communication between the national office of the organization and its affiliated chapters.

The Society’s Constitution strictly prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, physical disability, or social status.

HONORS DAY SEAL

The Honors Day Seal was authorized by the Hampton University Honors Council for its 1989 Honors Day Program. The seal features a drawing of the Emancipation Oak and the Latin phrase, “Scientia et Veritas.” The Emancipation Oak symbolizes strength and continuity; Hampton University’s first students were instructed beneath its branches. The Latin words, ‘scientia’ and ‘veritas’ translate into knowledge and truth. This phrase embodies the academic spirit that is the hallmark of the students and faculty of Hampton University. Ms. Karen W. Best and Mr. Jack O’Kelley III designed the seal. The artwork was done by Mr. Jay Wright.
ALMA MATER

O Hampton, a thought sent from heaven above,
   To be a great soul’s inspiration;
We sing thee of the earnest of broad human love,
   The shrine of our heart’s adoration.
Thy foundation firm and they roof tree outspread,
   And they sacred altar fires burning;
The sea circling ‘round thee, soft skies overhead,
   Dear Hampton, the goal of our yearning!

Refrain

O Hampton, we never can make thee a song,
   Except as our lives do the singing;
In service that will they great spirit prolong,
   And send it through centuries ringing!

Kind mother, we'll treasure the dear happy days,
   We’ve spent here in life’s preparation;
Yet go with brave hearts upon our chosen ways,
   Of service to God and our nation;
Still wearing our colors, the blue and the white,
   As pledge that our fond hearts will cherish;
A love which for thee ever shines true and bright,
   A loyalty that ne’er can perish!
