Joe Turner's Come and Gone

By August Wilson

Directed by Robin Jackson Boisseau

The play, which takes place in Pittsburgh during the early 1900s, is an August Wilson classic. It focuses on Herald Loomis and his daughter Zonia's journey in finding his wife. When they take residence in Seth Holly's boarding house, a microcosm of African-American life, the story unfolds as each character searches for a missing part of themselves.

Black Nativity

By Langston Hughes

Directed by Karen Turner Ward

Black Nativity is a retelling of the classic Nativity story with an entirely black cast. Traditional Christmas carols are sung in gospel style, with a few songs created specifically for the show. Originally written by Langston Hughes, the show was first performed Off-Broadway on December 11, 1961, and was one of the first plays written by an African-American to be staged there.
